U. S. to Pledge To Keep Military Might in Europe

Designed to Relieve French Fears of German Militarism

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States soon will pledge to maintain American military might in Europe.

Administration sources said today the pledge will commit this country to present defensive strength but will leave room for possible withdrawal of troops if new and superior weapons make it practical.

The pledge, which has been in preparation for many weeks, is designed to relieve French fears of a revival of German militarism and to assure all European nations the United States will assist in protection against Soviet aggression.

Officials hope the announcement thus will boost chances of French approval of the European Defense Community (EDC) which includes rearming of West Germany.

Strategy calls for making the announcement when France shows it is ready to begin parliamentary debate on EDC. Reports from Paris said the French are expected to set a date for this discussion about May 18.

Cooperation With Britain
Details of the American guarantee have been closely guarded. But West German Defense Minister Theodor Blank told a news conference in Bonn today the United States would issue a formal guarantee within a few days.

The pledge has been worked out in close cooperation with Britain. That country announced Wednesday a similar guarantee to keep its forces on the continent in cooperation with European nations.

The Eisenhower administration cannot make a pledge committing the United States beyond its term in office, but the forthcoming guarantee is expected to help the French government with the EDC issue.

The United States firmly supports the EDC plan as the best way to rearm Western Germany for defensive purposes.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have said failure to approve the EDC plan would confront the United States with the necessity of re-evaluating basic United States policies relating to Europe.

O'Daniel Receives Assignment To Indochina

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Lt. Gen. John W. "Iron Mike" O'Daniel flew into Saigon today to take command of the U. S. military mission in Indochina.

U. S. Ambassador Donald Heath and a party of high-ranking French and Indochinese officials were waiting to greet O'Daniel when his plane arrived from Honolulu.

The general, a veteran of Korea, was U. S. Army commander in the Pacific before he received the Indochina assignment.

The United States maintains a sizeable military mission in Indochina as it does in most countries receiving American military aid.

Members of the mission advise friendly military men on the use of U. S. equipment and supplies, but do not themselves take part in actual military operations.

The choice of an officer of O'Daniel's rank and standing for the Indochina job emphasized America's growing interest in the anti-Communist war raging here. The general had been believed ready to retire when he was tapped for the vital advisory post.

Rites Held at Benton For Robert L. Russell, Highway Accident Victim

The funeral of Robert Lee Russell, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Russell, Benton, who met death in a highway accident near Carrier Mills Monday night, was today at 2 p. m. at the Free Pentecost church in Benton. Rev. John Perry officiated and burial was in the Masonic and Odd Fellows cemetery at Benton. The Drake funeral home was in charge.

Announce Low Bidders for Highway Work

Bids for more than a half million dollars worth of highway work in Saline county have been opened at Springfield and the low bidders announced.

The Triangle Construction Co., Kankakee, with a bid of $371,449, was low for construction of .66 mile of concrete base course, 6.12 miles of concrete widening and .72 mile of bituminous surface treatment on U. S. Route 45 from Illinois Route 34 near Harrisburg southwesterly through Carrier Mills, and .11 mile of bituminous surface treatment on Illinois Route 13 approximately one mile east of Harrisburg.

Another low bid was by Frank C. Feutz Co., Paris, Ill., for 6.87 miles of bituminous resurfacing on U. S. Route 45 from Route 34 near Harrisburg southwesterly through Carrier Mills, and .11 mile bituminous resurfacing on Route 13 approximately one mile east of Harrisburg. The Feutz bid was $153,474.

NAM, C. of C. Oppose Revision Of Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce joined today in urging Congress to reject most of President Eisenhower's proposals for revision of the Social Security system.

William G. Caples, vice president of the Inland Steel Co. and spokesman for the NAM, said the changes proposed by Mr. Eisenhower "should not be made without the most compelling reasons—and we see no compelling reason at this time."

A. D. Marshall, manager of employee benefits of the General Electric Co. and spokesman for the chamber of commerce, opposed the general increases in old age insurance benefits, but agreed with Mr. Eisenhower that coverage should be broadened.

The NAM and chamber of commerce views were presented to the House Ways & Means committee, which is conducting hearings on the President's Social Security proposals.

Supports Pay-As-Go Basis
Caples contended that new studies are needed before any substantial changes are made in the present Social Security system.

"We believe that the country so badly lacks basic information on the vital issues and problems involved that any permanent and irrevocable steps should not be taken," he said.

Marshall renewed the chamber of commerce's previous proposal that the old-age insurance system be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. Under this plan the government would discontinue the present system of building up a big trust fund to pay future benefits. The existing fund of some 18 billion dollars would be retained.

Marshall said the present minimum benefits of $25 per month should be raised—the administration recommended that it be increased to $30—but he opposed the general increases advocated by the President.

MEEK WINS GOP NOMINATION—Joseph T. Meek, 50, of Chicago, won the GOP nomination for U. S. Senator to oppose incumbent Senator Paul Douglas, Democrat. Meek receives the news of his success over eight other candidates for the nomination with his wife and daughter Julia, 16, left.

Will Welcome Help from Sen. McCarthy: Meek

Says He is 'All For' Party Help from Dirksen or Knowland

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph T. Meek, Illinois Republican senatorial nominee, said today he was "all for" help from Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in the campaign against Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas.

"If the Republican Party wants to send McCarthy, Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) or Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif.) in to help me in this campaign, I'm all for it," Meek said.

Even without McCarthy the Illinois senatorial race next fall will be hot enough. It will offer the voters a clear cut choice between advocates of two widely separated political schools of thought.

Meek is a conservative friend of business; Douglas a scholarly liberal. About the only thing they agree on is economy in government.

Meek, who won the GOP nomination in Tuesday's primary election, lets his Scotch-Irish ancestry show through when he gets on the subject.

Illinois' new "Mr. Republican" repeated his vow that he would help balance the budget in Washington before the year is out if elected. "That's a sacred promise," he said.

Meek knows he won't be sitting in the Senate until January, but he figures an election defeat of Douglas in November alone will help balance the budget.

Douglas, too, is a known enemy of pork barrel spending and government waste although he has voted for huge appropriations when he thought them necessary for national security.

A former economics professor at the University of Chicago, Douglas ran up a 400,000-vote margin over then Republican Senator C. Wayne (Curly) Brooks in 1948.

How does Meek plan to defeat the No. 1 target of the Illinois Republican Party?

Meek has what he thinks is the answer: "I think I know more people in Illinois than either Gov. Stratton, Sen. Dirksen or Sen. Douglas."

As president of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, Meek has traveled the state extensively.

His folksy handshaking approach to voters was a major factor in his primary victory.

Shift 25 'Flying Boxcars' to The Philippines

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Air Force announced today it is shifting some 25 C119 "Flying Boxcars" to the Philippines to speed vital supplies to the defenders of Indochina.

The announcement was the Air Force's first formal acknowledgment that it is flying supplies and equipment to French-led forces, although it had announced previously that it is supplying some 300 U. S. air technicians stationed in Indochina.

The brief announcement today did not indicate how many planes are flying the Indochina route, saying only that "approximately" a squadron of C119s is being sent to the Philippines for about two months to "increase the capability of airlift."

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Crosby, 43-year-old Republican governor of Nebraska, filed today as a GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate.

The governor filed minutes after he told a news conference he would seek the Senate post formerly held by Sen. Dwight Griswold (R-Neb.) whose funeral was Wednesday.

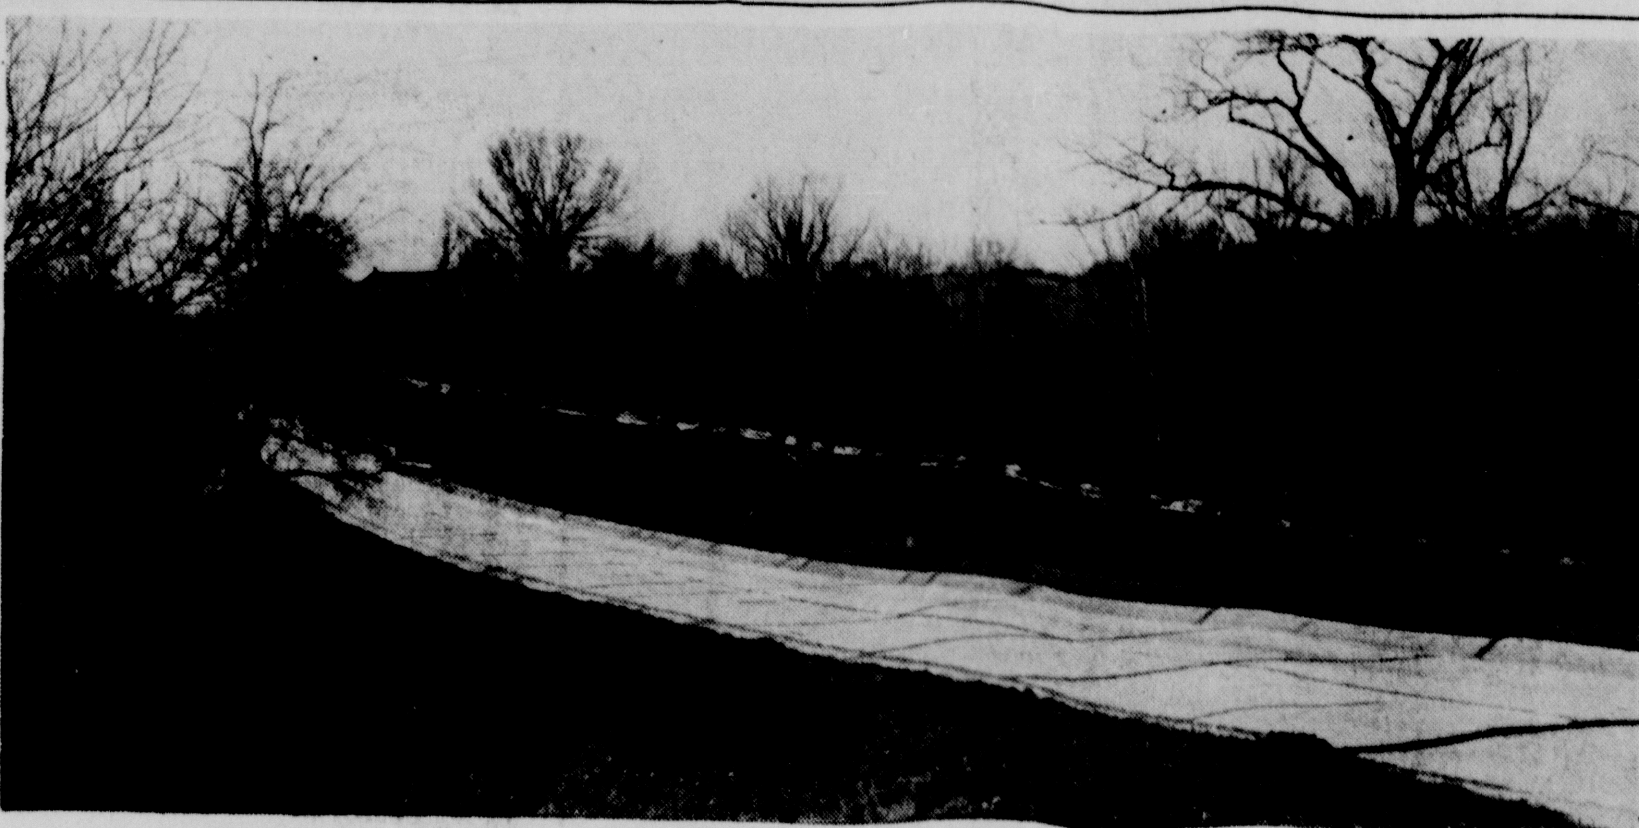

Crosby said he decided "after the death of Dwight Griswold" that he would seek the Senate post. A good friend of Griswold's, Crosby said he had never intended opposing Griswold.

Springfield City Workers Strike For Pay Increases

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—City street and garbage offices were deserted today after 75 union street and garbage workers voted to go on strike for a $55 a month pay raise.

There was no response from any of the offices shortly after 7 a. m., the time the strike was scheduled to start.

The strike decision followed an hour-long meeting with Commissioner Owen Darling Wednesday. Darling is head of the Department of Streets and Public Improvement.

LAKE HARRISBURG DAM SITE—Here is the spot adjoining the state highway near Galatia where the dam will be constructed to impound water in the new city water reservoir for Harrisburg. The area is so large it is difficult to photograph it definitely. The dam, on the north side of the highway, will follow generally the broken white line in the picture. This picture was taken from a spot to the rear of the Cecil Pulliam farmhouse, looking west and a little north. The site is at the dip in the highway before the highway reaches the edge of Galatia. The stream which will form the lake bed, is shown at the point of the bridge below, and in the distance is an identifying farm house high on the edge of the highway. From this dam, water will back up approximately two miles, following the valley north and a little east. (Register Staff Photo)

Seek to Avert Strike at Oak Ridge, Paducah

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Three Federal Mediation Service officials, including an assistant director from Washington, were making an all-out effort today to avert a possible strike at midnight of 9,000 production workers at the Oak Ridge and Paducah, Ky., atomic plants.

E. F. Hitchcock, who has been negotiating with the production workers and the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp., for almost two months, was joined Wednesday by Asst. Director Clyde Mills and Regional Director William S. Pierce.

Approximately 8,000 members of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers and the AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council at Oak Ridge and another 1,000 workers at Paducah are affected. If no settlement is reached by midnight, negotiations may be severed and the unions will be free to strike.

The 9,000 workers are asking for a substantial hourly wage hike. Union officials, however, have declined to say how much the request is for. Both unions received a 7-cent hourly pay boost last year, running scale ranges from $1.58 for laborers to $2.56 for skilled workers such as mechanics and electricians.

Another $2.10 per day travel pay for 650 AFL Sheetmetal Workers on construction of another plant at Oak Ridge was recommended Wednesday by the atomic energy labor relations panel. The pay would be retroactive to last July 16.

The sheetmetal workers have struck several times in the past six months for $3.92 per day travel pay, but mediation officials say they believe the panel recommendations will be acceptable to the union.

Nebraska Governor Files as Candidate For U. S. Senate

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Crosby, 43-year-old Republican governor of Nebraska, filed today as a GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate.

The governor filed minutes after he told a news conference he would seek the Senate post formerly held by Sen. Dwight Griswold (R-Neb.) whose funeral was Wednesday.

Crosby said he decided "after the death of Dwight Griswold" that he would seek the Senate post. A good friend of Griswold's, Crosby said he had never intended opposing Griswold.

Democrats Will Name New County Chairman To Replace Erton

With Harry Erton not a candidate for re-election as Democratic precinct committeeman from Harrisburg Precinct 10, a new county chairman will be elected by Saline county Democrats at their organization meeting.

It is reported Steve Mitchell of Independence township and John D. Upchurch of Eldorado precinct 3 are considered for the chairmanship.

Robert G. Miley of Galatia, Republican county chairman, was re-elected without opposition in his precinct, and it is considered that he will be re-elected county chairman. He is also chairman of the Illinois County Chairmen's Association.

Geo. O. Davenport Re-Elected Head of High School Board

George O. Davenport was re-elected president of the Harrisburg Township high school board at the organization meeting Wednesday night, following Saturday's election of two board members.

Mr. Davenport, who is beginning his 44th year as a board member, is beginning his 29th term as president.

Dr. W. D. Tuttle was named vice-president, Frank P. Parker was re-elected secretary and Bert Gaskins Jr. was named assistant secretary.

Dr. W. J. Blackard Jr., a newly-elected member, Paul T. Endicott and Ed Brantley are the other board members. Dr. Blackard was named Saturday to fill the situation vacated by Lloyd L. Parker, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Scientists Ask Public Hearings On Oppenheimer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the country's outstanding scientists, angered by the loyalty charges against Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, want his case aired in public, a source close to the accused scientist said today.

They specifically want the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee to hold open hearings on the record of the great physicist who played a key role in U. S. development of atomic weapons.

Whether Oppenheimer himself wants a public hearing could not be learned. But many of his colleagues and friends have voiced strong dissatisfaction with the secret proceedings now going on at the Atomic Energy Commission.

A special personnel security board, headed by former Army Secretary Gordon Gray, is hearing charges reflecting on Oppenheimer's veracity, conduct, and loyalty. Meanwhile, the physicist is barred by order of President Eisenhower from all secret atomic and defense data and from serving the government as scientific adviser.

A friend of Oppenheimer's told the United Press that Gray and his two board associates—former Secretary of Defense Thomas A. Morgan and Prof. Ward V. Evans of Loyola University, Chicago—could not tell the AEC anything it hasn't known for years about Oppenheimer "if they sat for six months."

Some 30 to 40 scientists and former colleagues of Oppenheimer on the wartime atomic project have been asked to testify before the board.

Issue Drilling Permit For Test in Long Branch

An oil well drilling permit for another test on the Massey property in Long Branch township has been issued to the Breuer-Robinson Oil Co. of Chicago.

It is for the J. H. Massey No. 4, in the SE corner of the SW quarter of Section 35, Township 7S, Range 6E.

Raymond Spoon, 55, resident of Galconda, died Wednesday at 11:30 p. m. at the Harrisburg hospital. The body now lies in state at the Hoffman funeral chapel in Galconda, and no plans have been made.

House Adds $21.3 Million To Farm Program, Provides $45 Million More for REA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) today said the House "rightfully repudiated" Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson by adding $21,360,841 to the administration's proposed budget for farm programs.

"The House action indicates how little confidence the members of Congress now have in the recommendations of Benson," Young told a reporter.

Young is chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee which will consider the agriculture appropriations bill next.

The bill, passed by voice vote Wednesday, also authorized 45 million dollars more for rural electrification loans than the administration requested. It carried $720,102,654 in direct cash appropriations and $320,500,000 in loan authorizations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The effect was to give the administration what it wanted for the program it is pushing and more than it requested for programs it intended to subordinate.

Some congressional aides said they could not recall a similar situation. Congress has rarely appropriated more funds than the administration requested.

Chairman H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn.) of the House Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee said he was flabbergasted when GOP House leaders successfully moved to add funds to the bill for programs Benson was backing.

AF Commission to Inspect Sites at Scott Base and Sedalia, Mo.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Merrill C. Meigs, a consultant on the new Air Force Academy, said a five-man commission would inspect Sedalia, Mo., and Scott Air Force Base, Ill., today in the hunt for an academy site.

The selection commission flew over sites in South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska Wednesday but strong winds prevented them from landing at Yankton, one of the sites under consideration.

Schools to Dismiss Until Tuesday For Good Friday, Easter

Schools throughout the county will be dismissed at the end of today's work until Tuesday because of Easter. Tomorrow is Good Friday, a legal school holiday, and Monday is the Easter holiday.

Offices in the court house will close tomorrow because of the Good Friday holiday.

Will Report to Eisenhower in Georgia Sunday

By-Passes Capital For Fishing at St. Lawrence Retreat

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is confident his London and Paris conferences achieved the allied unity which will prevent either a disaster in Southeast Asia or an "Oriental Munich" at Geneva.

A State Department spokesman said Dulles would fly to Augusta, Ga., Sunday to report to the President on his trip.

The secretary, who obtained British and French promises to "examine" the possibility of establishing a 10-nation defensive pact against mounting threats in Southeast Asia and the Western Pacific, by-passed Washington on his return to the United States to go immediately to his St. Lawrence retreat for "some fishing." He stopped off here.

"I return well satisfied with the results of my trip," he said. In a week, he must return to Europe for the April 26 Geneva conference at which the Big Four—the United States, Britain, Russia and France—plus Red China will attempt to work out a peace both for Korea and Indochina.

Compromise Agreement
The secretary also expressed gratitude that the governments of both Thailand and the Philippines had accepted the principle of his defensive plan.

Dulles, concerned by the mounting tide of Communist aggression in Indochina, went to London and Paris to seek allied support for his proposal that the "unified" free nations should issue an unmistakable warning to Red China now against further interference in the three associated Indochinese states.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, however, feared such a statement would wreck the Geneva conference in advance.

Agreement to work toward a 10-nation defensive pact was a compromise.

As Dulles' plane landed at Syracuse and he took off again by amphibian for his Duck Island refuge, the British were moving to activate his plan.

British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill summoned his Cabinet and military leaders to consider ways and means of setting up the pact which would also protect their interests in Malaya.

Russia Delays UN Talks on H-Bomb Race

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia has thrown a major crimp in Western hopes for quick launching of secret new United Nations talks to halt the East-West hydrogen bomb race.

Britain proposed to the 12-nation Disarmament Commission Wednesday that a subcommittee of the Big Four powers and Canada get to work next Tuesday to wrestle again with the long-deadlocked disarmament problem, and hold subsequent sessions in London.

But Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky demanded that the proposed subcommittee be expanded to include Communist China, India and Czechoslovakia.

Vishinsky's tactics forced postponement of a decision on composition of the subcommittee.

The Disarmament Commission scheduled another meeting for Monday morning, but it appeared doubtful the whole issue could be decided even then.

American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. lost no time in turning thumbs down on inclusion of Red China, and there was no doubt Lodge would be backed by the majority. But though Lodge indicated strongly that he also opposed India and Czechoslovakia, observers felt India, at least, stood a chance of inclusion in the secret talks.

Vishinsky warned the new negotiations would have little chance of getting anywhere if Red China and India, representing "almost half of humanity," were not included.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
In the presence of fullness of joy, at thy right hand are pleasures for-

That is a glorious assurance. We have some joy on earth, but some-

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

Indochina Crisis Presents Striking Parallel to Korea

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Fears that United States forces may soon become directly involved in Indochina fighting are growing. Doubts on the wisdom of direct negotiations with the Chinese Communists at the coming Geneva conference are increasing.

And U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is on something of a double spot.

The curious and little-remembered fact is that what Dulles has been saying publicly in recent weeks is entirely consistent.

It bears a striking parallel to what he had to say nearly four years ago, under similar circumstances at the start of the Korean war. The steps in this latest development are worth retracing.

As far back as last Sept. 2, Dulles declared in his American Legion speech at St. Louis: "If there were open Red Chinese aggression . . .
it would have grave consequences which might not be confined to Indochina." Nobody got excited then.

He repeated this assertion in his
Jan. 12 speech before the Foreign Policy Council in New York. He told how this threat would be met:

"THE WAY TO DETER aggression," he said, "is for the free community to be willing and able to respond at places and with means of its own choosing . . ." The basic decision, taken by President Elsenhower and the National Security Council, "was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly."

Then, in his March 29 speech before the Overseas Press Club in New York, Dulles explained why he had made these policy declarations. Ascertaining that propagandists of Red China and Russia had made it clear they intended to dominate all of Southeast Asia, he said:

"The United States feels that this possibility should not be passively accepted, but should be met by united action."

All this, however, follows closely the pattern of Dulles' statements just before and after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. To get the full record in perspective, go back to June, 1950. That was when Dulles went to the Orient as a special representative of President Truman.

DULLES WENT to Korea. He went up to the 38th parallel and looked across the South Korean defenses to the North Korean trenches from which a number of border raids had come. He then went to Seoul and addressed the Republic of Korea Parliament.

This speech was written by Dulles before he left Washington. It had been cleared by President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and other Republican leaders. It was fully approved American policy.

"The American people give you their support," Mr. Dulles told the South Koreans. "The American people welcome you as an equal partner . . . You are not alone. You will never be alone as long as you continue to play your part in the great design of human freedom."

Six weeks later Dulles told the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco:

"We had hoped that public declaration might contribute to peace.
But already the time fuse had been lighted. Almost at the exact time I was speaking in Seoul, the Communist regime was proclaiming its program . . . That next Sunday the Red army was hurled against the Republic of Korea in order to impose that program."

COMPARE that first sentence in the paragraph above with what Secretary Dulles said in New York March 29:

"The chances for peace are usually bettered by letting a potential aggressor know in advance where his aggression will lead him. I hope these statements will serve the cause of peace."

The catch in this, as it refers to Indochina, applied also in Korea.
Have the Communists now already lighted the time fuse? Had the Red generals already proclaimed their program for an all-out attack on Indochina, even while Secretary
Dulles was telling the American Congress that the Chinese were "coming awful close" to a direct aggression?

When the Korean truce was finally arranged, there was a general fear that it would merely liberate the Red Chinese forces for aggression elsewhere. If this is it, the bluff of words in promises or threats will trice have been called by the Communists.

In poker language, it will then again be up to the U. S. to "put up or shut-up."

McKinley Daughters Of Ruth Class Has Meeting

The Daughters of Ruth Sunday school class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. H. Davidson.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "He Keeps Me Singing" and with prayer by Mrs. R. C. Fritts. The devotion was given by Mrs. Harold Pelhank on the subject of "Does God Care?" after which her daughter, Linda Lou Lyons, sang "Does Jesus Care." Mrs. Herschel Brown then offered prayer.

The business meeting opened with roll call which was answered by naming a musical instrument used in the Bible days. Mrs. H. Fritts, secretary, read the minutes. An interesting guessing Easter egg game was played, and a prize was given to Mrs. Wayne Kerr.

The social committee composed of Mrs. R. H. Davidson, assisted by Mrs. Houston Smith, Mrs. Wayne Newcomb and Mrs. R. C. Fritts, served delicious refreshments of pineapple fluff, coffee and Cokes. Those present were Mrs. Charles Fulkerson, Mrs. Louise Penrod, Mrs. Alfred Swan, Mrs. Elbert Norris, Mrs. Robert Keltner, Mrs. Maynard Cannon, Mrs. Guy Panty, Mrs. Carl Kuppert, six visitors, Linda Lyons, Mrs. Jimmie McKenzie, Mrs. Marie Turnbrough, Linda Kay Pelhank, Marilyn and Linda Davidson, and those members previously mentioned.

Dorrisville Baptist Bethel Class Meets
The Bethel class of the Dorrisville Baptist church met Monday, April 12 at the home of Mrs. Mildred Atkinson.

The program opened with the singing of the song "We'll Work Till Jesus Comes," followed with prayer offered by Miss Joy Randolph. The minutes from the last meeting were read by the class secretary, Mrs. Ava Lyons.

Following the business session the devotion was given by Mrs. Margaret Shelton and closed with prayer by Mrs. Berniece Pickering.

Mystery pal gifts were received by the following people: Mesdames Sibyl Speaks, Elizabeth Ledbetter, Ava Lyons, Reba Hull, Berniece Pickering, Pauline Cox, Irene Tuttle, Vivian Coget, Margaret Shelton, Kathleen Barker and Miss Joy Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker of Dallasania community have returned from a 10-day vacation in the south. They visited in Mobile, Ala., with their son, William Ollie Walker, who is stationed at the air base there and in Birmingham with Mr. Walker's sister, Mrs. Alex Watson. They also visited in Hansville, Ala., where Mr. Walker was raised, with friends. Their trip took them as far south as Pensacola, Fla.

Dorrisville Baptist W. M. U. Has Lesson On South America

The W. M. U. of the Dorrisville Baptist church met at the church Thursday, April 8, for the Royal Service program, which opened with the singing of the song, "Jesus Saves."

During the business session some gave highlights of the state WMU convention recently held at McKinley Avenue Baptist church. The group decided to send more clothing to the needy in Korea.

The lesson for the day, "Medical Missions in South America," was under the leadership of Mrs. Clara Vinyard with hospital equipment for the background. The program was well presented by members in nurses' uniforms.

Those giving topics were Mrs. Thelma Dunning, Mrs. Florence Noonan, Mrs. Alice O'Toole, Mrs. Alta Sherrod, Mrs. Kathleen Barker, Mrs. Alma Dunn, Mrs. Pauline Cox, Mrs. Lillian Endsley, Mrs. Fay Dills, Mrs. Rose McElrath and Mrs. Ruby Wilson.

Attending besides ones mentioned were Mesdames Madge Robertson, Bertha McElrath, Reba Vaughn, Hattie Russell, Irene York and Mae Holland.

Big Ridge Home Bureau Entertains Liberty Unit

The Liberty Home Bureau unit met with the Big Ridge unit at the home of Mrs. George Davis for the April meeting. During the business session, directed by the chairman, Mrs. Art Kielhorn, "What is a Good Cook Book," was discussed, and the major topic, "Pattern Study," was given by the home adviser, Mrs. Mary Harper.

Mrs. Virgil Wright and Mrs. J. W. Wintzer had charge of the recreation.

Members attending from the Big Ridge unit were Mesdames Etta Hine, Ethel Oliver, Irene Mears, Blanch Wintzer, Marie Walls, Charlotte Fox, Mae Muggs, Mrs. Wintzer, Waldo Gibbs and son, Danny, J. W. Wintzer and Bill Endsley.

Members from Liberty were Mrs. Virgil Wright, Mrs. Art Kielhorn, Mrs. Lela Gibbs.

The hostess, Mrs. George Davis, served refreshments of cake and cold drinks.

A prize for answering the most quiz questions was given to Mrs. Blanch Wintzer.

Soviet Experts Take Notes at Air Meetings

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials discovered today that the most interested spectators at a national convention of aircraft specialists here was a group of uninvited Russians who crammed their brief cases with notes and pamphlets about the latest trends in the nation's aircraft design.

The Russians, led by an aviation expert from the Soviet embassy in Washington, have been attending meetings along with 1,000 of this nation's top aircraft designers and executives, an official said, but have been careful not to identify themselves.

Their presence was discovered Wednesday when a delegate to the convention suddenly noticed one of them had a thick accent. Another delegate recognized the accent as belonging to Lt. Col. Boris Bogatyrev, assistant air attaché at the Soviet embassy in Washington, who attended the convention last year.

The Society of Automotive Engineers, sponsor of the convention, decided it had a perfect right to tell the uninvited and unregistered Reds to go away if they showed up at closing sessions today and tried a repeat performance.

Delegates who watched them Wednesday said there was plenty of zip among the Russians.

Smiling and bowing but talking as little as possible, they took down long and detailed accounts of meetings, bought up all technical pamphlets they could find, and now and then even asked a guarded question at one of the 750 exhibits spread through the Statler Hotel.

Consider Single Commander for Defense of U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Highest military and civilian authorities are considering the establishment of an "American Theater" under a single, powerful commander with responsibility for continental defense.

The commander selected, if the move is ordered, would have authority over all Air Force, Army and Navy units allocated to defense of the United States against air or other attack.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson confirmed Wednesday that the move, long advocated by some military men and opposed by others, is under consideration. He was asked at a news conference, in connection with continental defense, "is there to be a single commander under the Department of Defense with all the services included?"

"We are talking about it," he replied. "It hasn't been decided." Thinking about the best organization of military forces for continental defense received new stimulus from recent disclosures about the awesome power of hydrogen weapons.

Under the present setup, there is an air defense command operat-

Door for Gore Club Formed Against Critic

SAUK CITY, Wis. (AP)—Leroy Gore, weekly newspaper editor who kicked up a nationwide fuss with his plan to oust Sen. Joseph McCarthy from the U. S. Senate, found out today that some of his fellow townsmen aren't exactly wild about him, either.

They formed a "Door For Gore" club and asked him to get out of town.

Gore, who just returned from New York and Washington on a fund raising tour for his "Joe Must Go" club, said he had anticipated such a movement.

"I anticipated it. I know what kind of following this guy McCarthy attracts," Gore said.

The "Door For Gore" move was inaugurated Wednesday by Sauk City and neighboring Prairie Du Sac residents. A lawyer hired by the residents said they had more than 200 signatures on petitions urging Gore to leave Sauk City.

Gore has nearly 200,000 names on lists demanding a recall of McCarthy.

Gore, who said he was very enthusiastic over the reaction his recall movement received in New York and Washington, said he doubted the "Door For Gore" club had any serious following.

Mrs. Clarence Smith Dies Near Eldorado

Mrs. Nora Smith, 68, wife of Clarence Smith, died suddenly at 12:55 p. m. today at her home north of Eldorado. Death was due to a heart attack.

She is also survived by two children, Mrs. Mary Maloney, St. Bernice, Ind., and William H. Smith, Indianapolis, Ind.; and a brother, James Stricklin, Eldorado.

The body now lies at the Bean and Tanner funeral home awaiting funeral arrangements.

ed by the Air Force. The Army has an anti-aircraft command, responsible for artillery and missiles around industrial centers, and under the "operational control" of the air defense command. The Navy, whose continental defense role is increasing, is on its own, so to speak, but "coordinates" with its sister services.

Committee to Open Public Hearings on FHA

By United Press
The Senate Banking committee announced today it will start public hearings Monday in the government's multi-million-dollar housing loan scandal.

It thus got the jump on the Committee on Non-essential Federal Expenditures, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), which has announced it will start open hearings on the same subject Tuesday.

Banking Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) said his first witnesses will be Albert M. Cole, housing and home finance administrator; Guy T. O. Holliday, federal housing administrator who was ousted by the White House last Monday; and Clyde L. Powell, assistant FHA director whose offer to resign has been rejected pending investigation.

Other developments:

McCarthy: Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) made public the Army's formal charges that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his counsel, Roy M. Cohn, used "improper means" to get favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, former unpaid consultant to McCarthy's Senate investigating subcommittee.

Health: Dr. David B. Allman, a spokesman for the American Medical Assn., told a Senate Labor subcommittee that President Eisen-

Dies at Golconda

Louis Lamar, 79, former resident of Hardin county who for the past several years has lived in Golconda, died at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday. The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the Buchanan funeral home in Golconda with the Rev. Frank Marshall, pastor of the Golconda Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

A house with no insulation requires more than one and one half times as much fuel as a well-insulated home of the same construction.

hower's reinsurance plan might hinder, rather than help, private health programs.

Debate: House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) and House Democratic Whip John W. McCormack (Mass.) debated the Eisenhower administration's record before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Halleck: "We've delivered on the things we said we'd do." McCormack: The record is one of "broken promises" and "confused thinking and leadership."

Assurance: Tracy S. Voorhees of the Defense Department assured the House Foreign Affairs committee that spending 800 million dollars this year to finance European war production won't hurt U. S. industry. Not "at this time," anyway. He said the money will be spent to build up Europe's "capacity," not its actual production.

Atomic: Leaders of the House-Senate Atomic Energy committee asked Congress to legalize transfer of information on war use of A-bombs and H-bombs to America's allies. This would not include information on how to make them.

Sen. Douglas Urges Eisenhower to Seek Freedom of Cardinal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) today introduced a resolution urging President Eisenhower to seek freedom for Cardinal Stepinac, Catholic leader in Yugoslavia.

The cardinal, who was imprisoned five years until 1951, is under house arrest, denied authority to resume his church duties. Douglas called on Mr. Eisenhower to urge complete freedom for Stepinac and request permission for him to come to the United States for medical care, if it is needed.

Men Who Guard Presidents Love Their Jobs

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The men who guard the life of President Eisenhower could make a lot more on the outside. But they do what they do because they love their jobs.

It's a secret as to the number who guard the Chief Executive but it's public knowledge they average only $5,000 and $6,000 a year.

It takes a tough man to head a crew like that. That man is U. E. Baughman, who directs the Secret Service. He has been in the Service since 1927, starting as a clerk.

The agents, of course, are well screened. They have to be in fine physical shape and between 26 and 30 years of age when they enter the service.

Have Other Jobs
"Most of the men in the service, who work out of 57 offices in the country," Baughman told me, "are married and have an average of two to three children. They do other things besides guard the President. They track down counterfeiters; they trail forgers. They work for the public and they love it."

The young toughies have to go through a rigorous routine. First they have to take a civil service examination. Then they spend two years in the field, out in the hinterland. They have to know a smattering of law.

But the fellows assigned to protect the President are put through more special training. "They are trained in judo, self-defense, first aid, fire fighting, and especially in the use of revolvers, sub-machine guns, riot guns, and other weapons," Baughman said. "They have instruction in atomic, biological and chemical warfare, and in other subjects bearing on their special assignments."

Little Life of Their Own
The brave young men who are devoted to the task of protecting Presidents have little life of their own. Their eggs may be left uncracked in the morning. They may miss their dinner. They must have their duffel packed at all times. And their expense account is such that they must sometimes do their own laundry when they are on long trips with the boss.

When these fellows go to cold countries, that can be a problem. Baughman said, "Longies don't dry as fast as shorts. They may miss their dinner. They must have their duffel packed at all times. And their expense account is such that they must sometimes do their own laundry when they are on long trips with the boss."

Clay Tate Writes Book on Community Development

A new book on community development by the editor of the Bloomington Daily Pantagraph carries an introduction by Prof. Baker Brownell, director of Area Services at Southern Illinois university, who also acted as supervising editor.

The book, "Building a Better Home Town" by H. Clay Tate, describes a "program of community self-analysis and self-help." In it, Tate offers suggestions as to how a "big brother community" can live in harmony with smaller communities and it is based on Bloomington's relations with neighboring towns.

In the introduction to the book published by Harper's, Brownell says, "Both Bloomington and the little towns around it have come to see the advantage in mutual development and the distribution of many general functions among the several members of the cluster."

Tate commends Brownell for his community work and also cites the efforts of Richard W. Poston when he was head of the bureau of community development at the University of Washington. Poston now directs SIU's department of community development under Brownell.

A native of Eldorado, Tate was named "an outstanding former citizen" of that town after a 1949 magazine article (in Collier's) featured some of his accomplishments in the Bloomington project.

"I don't think it has ever occurred to the fine people of my home town that the best tribute they could pay me or any other 'former citizen' would be to establish a civic-economic-cultural climate which would make today's youth want to stay at home and help build a better community," Tate writes.

Ironically, Eldorado was the first town in southern Illinois to start a community development program when Poston took over his post at Southern last September, and "Operation Bootstrap" has already achieved some "notable successes."

Service was William P. Wood, once the keeper of the Capitol Prison. He held up his hand in July of 1865. His job was to smoke out counterfeiters.

He did a job. Just like the rugged young men do today. As Baughman put it, the wives don't like it, but they put up with it. Neither do a lot of us.

Against rules, I once broke ranks to step on the back of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's big convertible when he was speaking to some crippled children in Minneapolis. In a matter of seconds I found myself picking grass out of my nose on the lawn. Tough boys? Ask me!

Slaughter Case Stresses Abuse of the Waiver Rule

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—There is little or no sentiment in baseball. It's a hard game.

But that picture of Enos Slaughter crying when advised that he had been traded to the Yankees isn't going to do the business any good.

Country Slaughter was kicked upstairs, but that didn't make the most typical of the Cardinals feel any better about it. After 19 years in the St. Louis Nationals' organization, it never entered Slaughter's head that he would ever play for anybody else. Vic Raschi felt the same way when told he was making the switch the opposite way.

The Slaughter and Raschi transactions not only shocked the principals. They stunned the baseball public, who expected these faithful performers to close out their careers in the livery in which they broke in.

The Cardinals wouldn't let us have him," say the brass. "Certainly we could not have closed such a deal as the Yankees made (Slaughter for four minor leaguers)."

Bob Carpenter of the Phillies, who require an outfielder like Abbott needs Costello, pointed out that Slaughter's best years were behind him.

"Slaughter didn't fit into our plans," asserted John Quinn of the Braves.

While the Slaughter barter was being announced, baseball pundits were pointing out that a Giant weakness was the lack of an accredited left-hand pinch-hitter.

"We wouldn't have taken him if we had the chance," declared the White Sox' Frank Lane, while attempting to sell Chicago fans the idea that Willard Marshall is a "big" outfielder.

There's one for the book or something—Slaughter not capable enough for the Phillies, Braves, Giants and White Sox, but plenty good enough for the world champions.

The other clubs have been slow in getting help to the Yankees' winning formula, in which National League castoffs have figured for five consecutive all-conquering years. Johnny Mize was purchased in 1949. Johnny Hopp in '50 and Johnny Sain in '51. Two more pitchers—Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Schmitz—failed to be of help, but General Manager George Weiss wasn't sitting still.

Slaughter is 38, but batted .291 and drove in 89 runs in 143 games last season. And the last time we looked the foremost hustler in the game was scouting over ground as rapidly as ever.

His acquisition gives the Yankees further outfield and pinch-hitting protection and opens the gate to further trades.

"Slaughter will be a great help to the Yankees," said Branch Rickey of the Pirates.

"I'm glad to see him out of the league," asserted Vice President Buzz Bavasi of the Dodgers. "He hurt us plenty last season."

It's difficult to understand the thinking of baseball owners and officials, who waive a star and a name out of the league just so he won't be around to hurt them. You'd think they'd want the league strong and well balanced and the more attractions the better.

Attendance has fallen off for other reasons than television and the magnates aren't checking the decline by repeatedly demonstrating that baseball is a game without a conscience.

ROUTER—Enos Slaughter preferred to finish with the Cardinals. (NEA)

Curt Simmons Shuts Out Pittsburgh, 6-0; Dodgers Get Even with Giants, 6-4

By CARL LUNDQUIST
If curving Curt Simmons can keep his big toe out of power mowers, this could be the season when he will become a bigger winner than his Philly team mate and next door neighbor, Robin Roberts.

A lot of wise baseball men were predicting last year that Simmons might surpass Roberts, but the quiet lefty got his toe tangled up with a mower and after being out nearly a month, never regained top form.

This year Simmons has looked much sharper than the durable Roberts, who has yet to win a game. Robin lost the Philly opener to the Pirates after being cuffed consistently by the hitters in exhibition competition, in which he suffered four defeats, being combed for 53 hits and 45 runs in 43 innings. That's not like the Roberts of old. Simmons, on the other hand, had two victories and a defeat on the exhibition trail before he came up with a bristling four-hit 6-0 shutout of the Pirates in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

All of the Pittsburgh hits were singles and Simmons also struck out four. The Philly fans also were elated over the hitting of Willie Jones, who had a two-run homer and three singles, batting in three runs from his new leadoff spot in the lineup. Simmons had two singles himself.

In the only other National League game, the Dodgers got even with the Giants, topping them, 6-4, with a 12-hit display as Don Newcombe limited New York to six hits. The Indians made it two in a row over the White Sox, 6-3, as Bob Lemon pitched a three-hitter. The Yankees scored their winning run without a hit in a 2-1 triumph in the ninth at Washington while Baltimore gained its first triumph 3-2 at Detroit in American League competition. There were no other games scheduled.

Brooklyn piled up a 6-0 lead against the Giants then coasted—almost too much. Newcombe appeared to tire in the late going and catcher Ebba St. Claire stirred things up with a two-run giant homer in the ninth but Newcombe ended the rally after that. Gil Hodges hit a homer, double and single, while Newcombe himself drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a force out. Junior Gilliam also homered for the Dodgers.

Lopat Wins
Lemon, after being touched for a pair of first inning runs, settled down and faced only 26 more batters while Cleveland was collecting 14 hits, including four by first baseman Bill Glynn. Wally Westlake hit his second homer in as many games.

Ed Lopat won his 12th straight game over Washington, which hasn't defeated him since June 26, 1951, but he had to do it the hard way. He was involved in a tough duel of lefties with veteran Johnny Schmitz and the Nats took a 1-0 lead on a single by Wayne Terwilliger, a sacrifice, and a single by Ed Yost in the sixth. Singles by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra and Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly tied it at 1-1 in the eighth, then the Yankees scored the winning run in the ninth without a hit when Phil Rizzuto walked, Lopat hit to Yost, and Rizzuto went to third when Terwilliger dropped the throw at second. Terwilliger then muffed a pop fly by Hank Bauer as Rizzuto scored. Lopat gave up five hits, Schmitz six.

Duane Pillette pitched six hit ball for the Orioles, who scored all of their runs in the first inning. Sam Mele singled in one run and Verne Stephens singled home two more.

Bull Dogs Defeat West Frankfort For Second Victory

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs won their second straight baseball game of the season last night at Taylor Field, defeating West Frankfort, 2 to 1, in an excellent mound duel.

Don Beal went all the way for Harrisburg and allowed five hits, the same number permitted by Rauch, the Red Bird hurler.

The locals got one run in the third, another in the fifth, with Frankfort scoring its single tally in the seventh and final frame.

Jim Cummins, freshman shortstop, and Wayman Hefner, sophomore outfielder, got two hits each for Harrisburg, and Ed Miller, senior first sacker, got the other.

Coach Lawrence Caluffetti used Cummins at shortstop, Ron Mitchell and Kenneth Dunn at second base, Russ McDowell at third base, Miller at first base, Hefner in center field, Tom Golden in left field, Ronnie Bean behind the plate, David Rees and Jim Alexander in right field and Don Beal on the mound.

Weather permitting, Galatia will meet the locals at Taylor Field this afternoon. Game time is around 3:30 p. m.

Jake LaMotta Loses Decision To Billy Kilgore

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A disgusted Jake LaMotta was seriously considering retiring from the ring today as a result of his surprise split decision loss to Miami's Billy Kilgore.

The 32-year-old former middleweight champion proved only a fairly tame version of the old "Bronx Bull" at Miami Beach Auditorium Wednesday night as Kilgore took the best Jake could dish out and then came slamming back with a head attack that earned the votes of two of the three officials.

"I'm going to think it over for a while," said LaMotta when asked in his dressing room if he would now retire. "I was surprised by the decision, because I thought I was winning it all the way."

Joining Jake entered the ring a 2-1 favorite and also with a weight advantage of 167½ pounds to Kilgore's 164½. And for the first three rounds he was in charge of the battling as he plowed steadily forward and slammed Kilgore with left hooks.

Judge Carl Gardner voted for LaMotta, 98 points to 93. But Judge Gus Jacobson favored Kilgore, 98-94, and Referee Pete Sargon voted for Kilgore, 97-95.

"I fought just the kind of a fight I wanted to fight," said Kilgore. "I thought I was ahead most of the way."

As for future plans, Manager Leonard McMillan said that from now on "We're not interested in anybody unless they're rated among the top 10 in the middleweight division."

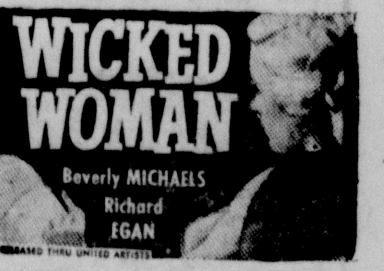

Fined

Willie Harrison of Herod, arrested yesterday by city police on a charge of driving while intoxicated and carrying a loaded pistol, was fined a total of $172.40 when arraigned before Police Magistrate Charles McKenzie.

Harrison was fined a total of $136 on the driving charge and $36.40 on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Wilson Orders Security Review Of Defense Dep't

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Defense Department is carefully checking all military and civilian personnel to determine if any possible security risks are in a position to learn military secrets.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson disclosed he had ordered the security review when questioned at a news conference late Wednesday about the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, top atomic scientist who has been denied access to atomic secrets pending a special security investigation.

Wilson said he knew of no other scientist of Oppenheimer's prominence deprived of access to secrets. But he said the department is "going over everything in the present security regulations for civilians and military people as well."

Push Investigation
Wilson said he sympathized with "anyone who made a mistake and reformed. But I think they ought to be reformed somewhere else than in military services."

He apparently was referring to the fact that Oppenheimer, who has admitted past associations with Communists, served as a consultant to the Defense Department's research and development board before it was abolished last July.

"We dropped the whole board," Wilson said without elaboration. "That was the smooth way of curing that as far as the defense department was concerned."

Meanwhile, the special Atomic Energy Commission board pushed ahead in tightest secrecy in its investigation of Oppenheimer. Members hoped to reach a decision on whether Oppenheimer is a security risk in two weeks. The number of witnesses to be called is not known.

Reschedule Typhoid Clinic at Junior High

Pidgin English Gets Professor's Okay

ITHACA, N. Y. — "Pure" English should not be forced on those who speak pidgin English, which is a separate language, says Cornell University Prof. Robert A. Hall Jr.

"If pidgin English is a corruption of English," Hall said, "medieval French was a corruption of Latin, and Chaucer wrote in corrupt Anglo-Saxon."

Hall received a Guggenheim fellowship for a one-year study in Mealandia, where he will tape-record speech in native English. He is the author of "Mealandian Pidgin English," published in 1943.

Pidgin is commonly considered a hybrid form of English used between foreigners and Orientals. Hall said that though pidgin is based on English, it has enough differences to qualify as a distinct language.

Hall said it is "pseudo-democratic" to teach "our own 'pure' language to people who already communicate in pidgin."

Before 1933, a dime was legal as payment in amounts of $10 or less. In that year, Congress made it legal tender in any amount.

Soviet Empire's Weakness at Geneva: Empty Stomachs Behind the Iron Curtain

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS — (NEA) — Western leaders should take another hard look at the Red world before sitting HIDING HER FACE to avoid Red reprisal, this East German woman rests beside food parcels she got in West Berlin. Refugees report food shortages plaguing satellite countries.

down at Geneva to haggle with Moscow and Peiping over Korea and Indo-China.

The Reds as usual are expected to talk and act tough. But they will again lead from weakness rather than from strength, for the Soviet empire is in the midst of a grave economic and political crisis.

"The agricultural situation is serious enough in Russia," two Allied diplomats who just returned from behind the Iron Curtain told NEA Service. "But it borders almost on disaster in the satellite countries."

This is also confirmed by refugees who recently escaped West from Poland, Hungary and East Germany.

Moscow's much publicized plan to increase food and consumer goods production in Russia and the satellite states is running into serious obstacles. There is a drastic bread shortage in Hungary and a potato famine in Poland and East Germany.

Soviet-dominated lands like Poland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria which once exported food are now hungry themselves. Everywhere the reason is the same: communism has failed to modify the stubborn individualism of the peasant.

It took the Red leaders more than 35 years to discover that nature, especially human nature, is not easily changed. Thus, since the death of Stalin, his successors have literally been jumping out of their skin to woo the peasant. To no avail.

Stalin originally forced through the collectivization of Russian agriculture at the cost of national famine and four million dead peasants. But years of compulsion, coercion, concentration camps and execution by firing squads have completely failed to bend the Russian peasant to the Kremlin's will.

Of some 100 million Russian peasants, no more than one million joined the Communist Party since the Bolsheviks seized power. This was recently revealed by none other than Nikita S. Khrushchev, No. 3 man in the Kremlin's new hierarchy.

The situation in Poland, Moscow's most important satellite, is even more revealing.

In the nine years since the Reds came to power in Warsaw, only five to eight per cent of Polish peasants have enrolled in collective farms. Few peasants joined the Communist Party.

Of the close to 300,000 party members purged in the past six years for anti-Communist resistance — according to Poland's Red mouthpiece Zycie Warszawy — the majority were peasants and "counter-revolutionary intellectuals."

In the face of this stubborn and frequently heroic resistance, propaganda for land collectivization in Poland has almost ceased. This is also true of Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and especially East Germany, the Iron Curtain refugees reported.

More than 35 years after the Russian Revolution the peasants for the most part remain the backbone of resistance to the Red regimes.

Thus, despite their immense industrial achievements, the Kremlin rulers now find the food shortage in Communist-dominated Europe is the major problem confronting them today.

Premier Georgi Malenkov must find new food sources to feed the hungry, stirring people behind the Iron Curtain if he is to remain in power. This urgency is primarily responsible for Moscow's drive to increase trade with the West and for the increased sale abroad of Russian gold.

Growing peasant resistance behind the Iron Curtain, in addition to its economic implications, is even more ominous for the Red rulers. The peasants still number half the population in Russia and the satellite countries. Their influence is felt in the towns not only because they feed the people but also because even today most workers in industry and Red Army soldiers have a rural background.

Easter Service At Williams Hill Sunday Afternoon

Plans have been completed for the outdoor Easter service Sunday at 3 p. m. at the top of scenic Williams Hill, four miles west of Rt. 34 at Herod.

Rev. Lee Cunningham of Mt. Vernon will bring the Easter message and a Young People's choir will sing.

There will be ample parking space and Boy Scouts will aid in parking and directing traffic.

The service is sponsored each year by Rev. James G. Johnson, Eldorado, field missionary of the American Sunday School Union.

The program will be as follows: Easter music preceding service. Song "The Old Rugged Cross."

Invocation. Song "He Lives." Scripture.

Special music. Announcements and offering. Message. Rev. Lee Cunningham. Benediction.

Household Hints

If food burns in an aluminum pan, soften by filling the utensil with water and bringing to a boil. Then scrape the burn with a wooden spoon or metal sponge, wash the utensil with soapy water, and polish with steel wool. For scouring, use a fine steel wool.

Laundry experts say that synthetic detergents usually will get silks, woolsens and nylons cleaner than soap, but soap works better on elastic, cotton, linen and rayon.

Floral Tints Are Important for Gloves

The well-gloved hand will wear a short length this spring, in leather gloves that may have wide cuffs or none at all. For dress wear and after-five gatherings, there's this white kid gauntlet (left) with gold-piped cuff and buttons of fake burnished gold. Dressy little daytime shorty (upper center) is cape-skin in white and pastels, has pretty leather flower at wrist-band. Glove for town and country (upper right) is soft, dove-gray peccary with hand saddle-stitching and chunky gold clasp. Thin, moonstone gray kid (lower center) has tiny cuff lined in contrasting white. Wristlet (lower right) is in glistening white kid, has cufflet wrist with V-construction and hand-sewn edge. The short glove is crafted in leathers of many weights this spring.

Social and Personal Items

Mrs. Herbert Clark Hostess To McKinley Philathea Class
The Philathea Sunday school class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Clark for the regular meeting recently.

The session was opened with the singing of "Amazing Grace," and with prayer by Mrs. Frank Rodgers. The devotion, taken from the 24th Psalm, was given by Mrs. Ralph Burroughs.

The president, Mrs. John Denny, was in charge of the business session, and Mrs. Houston Coker was in charge of the recreation, during which game prizes were awarded.

Mrs. Kirt Gasaway gave the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Clinton Norman, Mrs. Iva Tolbert, Mrs. Earl Hicks, Mrs. Henry Short, Mrs. Earl Robb, Mrs. Della McDonald, Mrs. Frank Rodgers, Mrs. James Ford, Mrs. Kirt Gasaway, Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, Mrs. Hugh Rapp, Mrs. Blanche Denny, Mrs. Ralph Burroughs, Mrs. Houston Coker, Mrs. Herbert Clark and Mrs. Oscar Agin.

North America Church Homemakers' Class Meets
The Homemakers' class of the North America Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Nellie Malone Monday for the regular meeting. Following the business meeting the devotion was given by Mrs. Malone.

During the social hour refreshments in keeping with the Easter season were served to Mrs. Helen Hankins, Mrs. Gaynelle Dallas, Mrs. Wanda Healy, Mrs. Virginia Orr, Mrs. Jane Ragsdale and Mrs. Judy Upchurch.

Mrs. William Spirling Hostess To Baptist Everly Hayes Circle
Mrs. William Spirling was hostess to the Everly Hayes circle of the First Baptist church for the April meeting, which was opened with the singing of the song, "Softly and Tenderly."

Prayer was offered by Mrs. Clarence Howell. The chairman, Mrs. M. R. Williams, was in charge of the business session and urged that each member bring a visitor to the May meeting. She also asked the group to visit the shut-ins, read scripture verses and pray.

Reports were given by the various chairmen.

Mrs. Corby Wickham, program chairman, was in charge of the lesson. The hymn, "Let Others See in You," was sung, and Mrs. Raymond Greer led in prayer. Mrs. Williams read the scripture, John 12:20-26, and Mrs. Wickham gave the origin of the Carver school at Louisville, Ky. Talks on the school were given by Mrs. Bolen Perkins, Mrs. Eulless Hughes, Mrs. Ed Smith and Mrs. Spirling.

The hostess served refreshments to the above mentioned and to Mrs. Charles Gustin, Mrs. Earl Cain and Mrs. Frank Chamness.

Miss Inge Kusel, an exchange student from Homburg, Germany, is spending the Easter vacation from Rosary college in River Forest, Ill., with Catherine and Margaret Klein and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Klein. Miss Kusel has been in the United States for six months, and she is a junior at Rosary college. Margaret is a sophomore, and Catherine is a freshman.

P. and P. W. Club Elects Officers
The April meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Tuesday evening at the First Christian church. At 6 o'clock a delicious two-course dinner was served by the women of the club. Collect was read as the invocation by Mrs. Vivian Kimmons. The business was in charge of the president, Miss Ruby Thomas, and the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Miss Meriam Evans; vice-president, Mrs. H. C. Lewis; recording secretary, Miss Mary Price; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Melton, and treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Myrna.

The International Relation committee was in charge of the program with Miss Iris Craggs as chairman. Mrs. Vivian Kimmons played a cornet solo accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Thompson. Mrs. Charles E. Combe was the guest speaker and she related the highlights of her trip to Germany, Spain and France. Her talk was very interesting and highly enjoyed by the members of the club.

At the May meeting the installation of officers will be held and also the birthday party of the club's anniversary.

V. F. W. Auxiliary To Hold Installation Of Officers
At the V. F. W. Auxiliary meeting Monday evening Mrs. Minnie Wallace, senior vice president, presided in the absence of the retiring president, Mrs. Nada Potts.

During the business session a contribution of $10 was sent to the National Cancer fund, and a sum of $5 was given for cigarettes for the hospitalized veterans on "Mother's Day."

It was again announced that the installation ceremony of the ensuing officers is to be held today at 7 p. m. at the Masonic temple. At this time awards will be made to essay winners.

Soldiers for Jesus Class Meets in Church Basement
The Soldiers for Jesus class of the Social Brethren church held its monthly meeting April 9, in the lower rooms of the church. The meeting was opened with prayer by Leighman Walker.

The devotion, taken from the 23rd Psalm, was given by Mrs. Anna Belle Bennett.

After the business session games were played, and prizes were won by Rev. Tommie Guest, Rev. Clifford Potter, Mrs. Ethel Sweet and Arthur Holland. Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Louie Sweet and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leighman Walker and son, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland and sons, Rev. and Mrs. Tommie Guest and son, Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Bennett and son, and Mrs. Clifford Bennett and Mrs. Gene Wilson.

Tardy Discovery
Though the Nile is the most famous river in history, its source was not discovered for 5000 years because floating vegetation blocked explorers traveling upstream, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache
Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 10 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Milnot Whips Without Chilling!

No need to chill bowl, beater, dairy product and yourself! Or to crowd everything into your refrigerator! Just take Milnot and your utensils right off the pantry shelf, and in ONE MINUTE Milnot whips to the most glorious topping you can imagine!

No expensive failures because you can't over- whip Milnot. Your hand beater or an electric mixer will do the job equally well. Besides, Milnot more than triples in volume when whipped, so use less and save!

Delicious topping because Milnot's delightful country-fresh flavor makes every dessert more appetizing!

Milnot Whips "Canned" Taste problems, too!

Yes, this modern, nourishing, dairy product with the country-fresh flavor is entirely free from "canned" taste! You'll especially love Milnot in coffee and on cereals... in cooked and frozen foods! Use Milnot in any recipe calling for milk, cream, whipping cream, canned or evaporated milk! You may be sure delicate flavors will remain intact!

Milnot is a delicious pasteurized and homogenized dairy product made from pure, whole milk from which only the fat and part of the water are removed. Then, in a scientifically controlled process, pure highly refined vegetable fats are blended with the energy-giving proteins and bone-building calcium. Milnot contains natural Vitamin B₁ (thiamine) and Vitamin G (riboflavin)... and is fortified with Vitamins A and D.

Delicious in coffee... on cereals... in casseroles, soups and sauces!

Milnot is produced in modern dairy plants in Illinois, Indiana, Oklahoma, Missouri

Dunn examined the pole itself. "Nobody's climbed this pole recently. There would be fresh scars from climbing irons. But all you'd need would be another pulley fastened to the basket itself. And maybe a cord trailing along. When it was in position, the man waiting in that bush could grab the trailing cord, pull the basket to the ground. When it was emptied, Eddie would pull on his long cord and the basket would go up to the wire before it started on the trip uphill."

"I suppose it would work. Pretty childish way to go about collecting extortion money."

Jim smiled then went on in a voice that had suddenly grown grim. "Don't forget it was Eddie Stone up at the station. I have an idea such a plan would have appealed to him."

"At least," Mark said, "your theory would account for the wads of paper around this pole. So we'll have to have them gathered up and checked for prints. And I suppose the guy down at this end waiting until the last pay-off had been made—according to the time schedule—then sent up a glass of strawberry pop loaded with cyanide."

"An empty glass," Jim said. "And a container for the pop. So it wouldn't spill. I think that was Eddie Stone's reward for his work."

He walked over to the stake marker where the pen had been found, stared down at it as if the piece of wood should speak. He shook his head. "Be mighty careless to lose that initialed pen. He started back toward Mark, the sunlight glittered briefly from a small square of metal, level with the hard dirt. Jim scuffed at it absently with his toe. It refused to move. He bent over, scraped dirt more cautiously.

"Find something, Jim?"

"Looks like an ice pick," Jim said. "An all-metal one." He scraped with his knife. "An ice pick, sharpened so it'd fit the description of the murder weapon Dr. Pardon gave us."

The two men unearthed the ice pick carefully, and Mark put it in a roll of newspapers. It was an advertising pick, one stamped with the name of the donor, in this case the Hughes Furniture Company.

"And the ball point pen right near by," Dunn said. "Complete with initials, G. W. Why, Mark? One of them might have been lost. That pick wasn't lost, though. It was stamped into the hard ground. Was that to hide it? Or were we supposed to find it—after we located the ball point pen?"

Ten minutes later they were still discussing Jim's questions, when the man in denim jacket and jeans walked up.

"Been waiting until you boys got through here. Didn't like to interrupt. Morning, Lieutenant."

"Vern Bruce, isn't it?" Richards demanded.

"That's right. Used to know you when you were younger. Made a kite for you once, a long time ago." The man was tall, with a narrow head covered by much too long black hair streaked with gray. There was gray stubble on his cheeks, which made his face appear not overly clean.

"You want something?"

"It's this way, Lieutenant. You know where I live? Next to old Gaylord Mansfield's place."

"I know."

"Well, I been waiting around awhile. Thought you or some other cop would come around after what happened last night to the Stone boy. But I finally decided I might as well come up and get you. Might be serious."

"Then get to the point," Richards suggested.

Bruce shook his head slowly. "Something's wrong over at Mansfield's place."

"Wrong? What's wrong?"

"I didn't want to take a look around. Might run into Gaylord. We aren't very friendly. Haven't been since some years ago when he wanted to borrow my Leppy cat for an experiment."

"Hold it a minute," Richards snapped. "I know how hipped you are on your pets. Forget about them. How do you know there's something wrong at Mansfield's?"

"You told me to forget about my cats. All right. I won't bother you with them. And so I can't tell you how I know there's something wrong."

"I suppose your cats told you?"

There was a glint of what might be humor in Bruce's eyes. "That's right," he drawled.

Jim intervened before Richards exploded. "Maybe we ought to drop around, Mark. Remember

Woman Who Cooks Underfeeds Self

WASHINGTON — The housewife is neglecting herself at the dinner table.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture cites several recent studies of women's eating habits and concludes that the distasteful side of the family is most in need of diet improvement.

One study of the Nebraska Experiment station showed that teen-age girls, mothers were the worst fed of all members of the family. Another study by the New York Experiment station showed that children fare best nutritionally, men and teen-aged boys next best, younger women third and teen-age girls last. A study of diets of expectant mothers in one Massachusetts town showed that 63 per cent had too little calcium, 40 per cent too little riboflavin and iron, and 30 per cent too little protein, thiamine, and vitamin C.

The Iowa Experiment station checked the diet of women 30 to 40 or over from all parts of the state and found that 80 per cent ate meals providing fewer than the 2,400 calories a day recommended for moderately active women. Some 40 per cent were doing on 800 to 1,600 calories.

The Department also reported that as a group women probably consume less milk than the other members of the family . . . that many get far less than is needed for adequate nutrition.

All parts of the Laburnum tree, including its seeds, are poisonous. Jar rubbers attached to the underside of a small rug will keep it from slipping.

Mansfield ignored the demands. "Might come and see," Bruce suggested mildly.

He started off without another word, and Jim and Mark followed.

The two friends went through a gate into a large garden.

Along the right-hand fence which cut off this garden from the Mansfield property, a 12-inch plank had been nailed so that it formed a long bench, a good five and a half feet from ground level, and six inches from the fence top. At least a dozen cats of all sizes, shapes, and colors sat there.

They sat and stared over the fence into the space beyond.

"Hi, kids," Vern Bruce said. Furry faces and gleaming eyes turned momentarily toward the men, then returned once more to the important business of staring over the top of the fence.

"See what I mean?" Bruce demanded. "They've been like that since first thing this morning. Won't even take time to come down to eat. That's how I know there's something wrong over there."

Crime Prevention Begins at Home

PHILADELPHIA — The old saying that "there's a little larceny in the best of us" was underscored by Edwin J. Lukas, former executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Crime, in a speech here.

Lukas said that our children are savages, the majority of parents are not fit to be parents when their children are born and "unconsciously, we don't want to prevent crime."

"Actually," he added, "we are titillated by it."

The crime expert said, "man began life as a criminal" and pointed out that a baby will refuse to give back most things that are handed to him.

"That is larceny, pure and simple," he said. He claimed the child does not become law-abiding until exposed to civilized society, but sometimes the exposure is insufficient because the "vast majority of parents are emotionally unfit to have children."

Lukas claimed the home is the source of the crime problem and the solution is providing a feeling of "being wanted" in children.

Benjamin Franklin invented the harmonica.
